

The sun is bright, as the moon is at night.

The birds sing sweetly, making their nests neatly.

The grass is long, [ because you listen to the new summer song].

The animals play, encouraging you to stay.

The sky is blue, as sun is true.

The world thrives, what wonderful lives.

The schools are forgotten, have we hit rock bottom?

The shadows are less and less seen, has the world gone mean?

No just covid-19.

No-one is bad, only sad or mad.

We stay indoors WAIT! Pause.

A smile creeping up your face, no anger not a trace.

Hope is in the air, come on make it stay there.

Lets all join the fight day and night.

Let's show this virus whose boss, I say no more loss.

Once we do, we will get summer back for me and you.
